Army National Guard flight facility In West Bend to be dedicated Sunday

Military, state and federal officials will be on hand Sunday to formally dedicate the Wisconsin Army National Guard's flight facility at the West Bend airport. Construction of the new state-of-the-art facility was completed several years ago, but the 832nd Medical Company, which uses the facility, was ordered to active duty so the dedication and open house were postponed until they returned.

Maj. Gen. Al Wilkening, Brig. Gen. Kerry Denson and senior leaders of the Wisconsin National Guard will host the dedication, along with soldiers of the 832nd Medical Company.

Where: Army Aviation Support Facility #1
105 E. Trenton
West Bend, Wis.

When: Sunday, September 11, 2005, 1:00 p.m.

Who: Lt. Gov. Barbara Lawton
U.S. Rep. F. James Sensenbrenner
Wisconsin State Sen. Glenn Grothman
Wisconsin State Rep. Pat Strachota
West Bend Mayor Doug Bade
Washington County Board Chairman Ken Miller
Former West Bend Mayor Mike Miller
Maj. Bob Carty, 832nd Medical Company
The men and women of AASF #1, the 832nd Medical Company and their families

Following a brief dedication ceremony, the facility will be available for tours.

Note: The flight facility is separate from the 832nd Medical Company's armory on Chopper Drive.
